

Fly Fishing for Arctic Char - Rapid Lake Lodge Ungava Bay, Nunavik, Quebec, Canada

Departures on August 21 and 27, 2012

Trip Description:

This exceptional journey in the country of auroras borealis gathers the fishing for the Ungava's big red chars and the magnificent autumn tundra colors. It is an ideal period to observe bears and thousands of arctic chars which go back up rivers to spawn.

Itinerary:

Day 1: Arrival from Montreal - Kuujuaq - Barnoin Camp Flight. Upon arrival at Barnoin Camp, the manager-owner will welcome you with a cocktail, followed by the emission of fishing licenses and a presentation of your upcoming itinerary. In the afternoon, you are free to fish. Dinner and overnight stay at the Lodge.

Day 2: Depart for a day of fishing, flying over the brilliant coastal landscape of Ungava Bay. After a 20-minute flight, we will stop at a wilderness river renowned for its large Ungava's red Arctic char that varies from 4 to 8 kg range. At night, watch the aurora borealis. Overnight stay at the Lodge.

Day 3: In the morning this, our day will be devoted to fishing at various river portions. For lunch at midday, your guide will take the opportunity to braise your Arctic char over a wood-burning fire. At night, watch the aurora borealis. Overnight stay at the Lodge and Labrador tea tasting.

Day 4: En route to our fishing site, we will fly over fjords and mountains, surveying icebergs and polar bears. Upon arriving at our destination, we'll fish for big red Arctic char. Overnight stay at the Lodge.

Day 5: In the morning, we will fish for Arctic char at seaside and, in the afternoon, we'll stay on to fish at the base of a majestic waterfall. Overnight stay at the Lodge.

Day 6: We'll take advantage of our last day of fishing to explore little-known fishing grounds and wonderful rivers in the wilderness. Overnight stay at the Lodge.

Day 7: Return Trip to Montreal after breakfast at the Lodge.
